

BRYN APPOINTED ILLEGALLY, SALEM ATTORNEYS CLAIM

Civil Service List Should Be Drawn On For New Police Officer.

FAILS TO QUALIFY WITH EXAMINATION

Civil Service Names Are Not Satisfactory To Administration.

The appointment of William Bryn as a police officer in the city of Salem by Safety Director Wilbur Hiddleston is illegal.

This is the opinion of Salem attorneys who point to the Ohio general code for their authority.

Bryn is not eligible for appointment to the police force because of the fact that he has not qualified under the civil service law and also because of the fact that there are at present three names certified on the eligible list for appointment, all of whom are ahead of Bryn, the attorneys say.

A civil service examination was conducted on Dec. 12 and the names of Earl Ritchie, John Kirchessener and William Bolen certified to the eligible list by Row W. Harris, secretary of the civil service commission. Names Not Satisfactory.

Harris recently was notified by the city administration that the names certified were not satisfactory to them, he said. With no names on the eligible list the appointment of Bryn was then announced.

Under section 486-13 of the Ohio general code, governing civil service appointments and powers of the civil service commission, it is stated that after a name has once been certified by the civil service commission for appointment, that name cannot be removed by anyone, not even the commission itself, unless the name had already been certified three times before, attorneys say.

Regarding the appointment of police officers the section of the general code says:

"Appointments to all positions in the classified civil service as defined herein that are not filled by promotion, transfer or reduction, as provided for in this act and the rules of the commission prescribed thereunder, shall be made only from those persons whose names are certified to the appointing officer in accordance with the provisions of this act, and no employment, except as provided in this act, shall be otherwise given in the classified service in this state or any political subdivision thereof."

Can't Draw His Salary

The section also declares that any temporary officer appointed who is not certified by the civil service commission may be summarily dismissed from the position.

Bryn was at one time eligible for the position after having qualified through the civil service examination. He was appointed as a police officer but later resigned by request of the administration.

Under these conditions Bryn is now serving illegally and cannot draw any salary for his service as a police officer, attorneys say. He was appointed Feb. 1 and is serving as a regular officer at present.

According to the opinion of the attorneys, Safety Director Hiddleston has no authority to refuse to accept the names as certified him by the civil service commission as the commission has the final say in the question of eligibility.

STARK HAD TRYING YEAR SAYS REPORT TO STOCKHOLDERS

Operating Expenses Grow, Offsetting Revenue Advance.

Stark Electric Railroad company shareholders are told in the annual report for 1922 which has just been given out that the year was a trying period for most utilities and that competition resulting from bus, truck and pleasure car competition has resulted in an increase in the number of passengers carried on the local line by making fare reductions necessary.

Gross earnings of the company, according to the statement of the general manager and auditor, increased $33,700 last year but they were offset by an increase in the operating expense due almost entirely to the mounting cost of power. The fuel cost increase was $60,384.

Last October the company entered into a contract to buy power at a rate regarded as reasonable and also continues to furnish power under contract to manufacturers.

Property valuation is placed at $2,500,624.41 with $30,337.50 additional invested and working assets of $25,478.72 and current assets of $89,866.39.

Liabilities include $1,250,000 common stock, a funded debt of $792,000, current liabilities totaling $137,147.6 and accrued liabilities of $316,872.9, with a $150,286.97 surplus.

Total earnings for 1922 were $542,540.53, an increase of more than 5 per cent over the previous year.

Conditions generally are said in the report to be good throughout the territory served and normal operating revenues are seen ahead. The year saw improvement in electric railway conditions.

Stark Electric officers are M. S. Milbourne, president; Charles Y. Kay, vice president; Wm. E. Davis, secretary; S. L. Sturgeon, treasurer; H. W. Witherspoon, general manager; O. K. Ayers, auditor. The board of directors consists of S. L. Sturgeon, A. L. Atkinson, M. S. Milbourne, E. B. Webb, W. E. Davis, C. Y. Kay, H. C. Koehler, Alliance, Charles Burrie and A. M. Smith, Cleveland.

NEW PLOT TO RELEASE MRS. KABER REVEALED

Cleveland, Feb. 3.—A new plot to release Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, serving a life term in Marysville reformatory for the killing of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Cleveland, in 1919, was revealed by Marysville reformatory officials to members of the senate finance committee yesterday. Senator George H. Bender, a member of the committee, said here today.

A woman in Cleveland is being sought by county authorities in connection with the plot to release the woman, whose sensational murder trial here a year ago last summer, held the front pages of newspapers for weeks.

Code messages between Mrs. Kaber and her outside confederates have been exchanged for weeks, according to Senator Bender, and their passage was not intercepted by the prison officials in the hope that a key to the cipher used could be found and the identity of the persons involved thoroughly established.

Scholastic Society To Present Playlet February 19 And 20

Members of the Dinamo society of Salem High school will present a playlet, "Martha By The Day," in the school auditorium Feb. 19 and 20, according to announcement made Saturday.

Klan Probe Extends Into Dozen States

Federal Investigation Has Assumed Nation-wide Proportions.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The governmental investigation of Ku Klux Klan activities begun in Louisiana as a result of the hooded mob murder there, has assumed nation wide proportions, it was learned today.

An army of department of justice agents has invaded a dozen states, scattered from coast to coast, determined to learn the truth of charges that the Klan's invisible empire has committed crimes of violence in violation of civil and criminal law, terrorized state and national judiciary and nullified the powers of state governments in many communities.

The result of this investigation may be the basis of governmental investigation of the Klan in federal courts, it was said.

Information obtained today indicated that the federal investigation of the Klan already had been extended to the states of Washington, Oregon, Oklahoma, Texas, Ohio and Georgia, besides the hooded mob murder case in Louisiana.

The charges brought against the Klan organization in these states are: Political activity in Washington; political crimes in Oregon; a triple murder in Oklahoma; a series of murders and kidnappings in Texas; alleged interference with constituted authority in Colorado; kidnapping in Ohio; murder and assault in Massachusetts and the murders in Louisiana.

The location of Klan headquarters in Georgia was said to have led to the investigation in that state.

Threats Received Following Demand For Murder Probe

Modily Harm, Even Death Is Threat In Dr. Walker Murder Case.

AFFIDAVITS FILED WITH GOV. DONAHEY

Removals Aren't Demanded But Grand Jury Probe Is Sought.

Columbus, Feb. 3.—That the murder of Dr. O. C. Walker, Alliance, is well known to county officials charged with law enforcement, is the charge made Friday in a memorial filed with Gov. A. V. Donahey, renewing demands for a cleanup of Stark county.

The memorial, filed by Attorney F. J. Kavanaugh, Cleveland, is signed by twenty-five leading citizens, and calls attention to "the fact that over 65 murders have been committed within a period of less than two years, with practically no arrests or convictions, and very few indictments returned against such murderers."

That those "opposed to the lawless element," who are "persons occupying positions of respectability, have been threatened openly with great bodily harm, loss of their positions, disgrace of themselves and families and with death" is charged in the memorial.

Accompanied By Affidavit

In addition to this document filed by Attorney Kavanaugh is a copy of an affidavit by Rev. A. A. Reavely, pastor of the Union Avenue M. E. church, Alliance, a member of the delegation that, about ten days ago, made the original demand upon the governor for a probe.

In this affidavit, also filed with the governor, Rev. Dr. Reavely accused a public official of making threats against him when he criticized the official for alleged failure to enforce law.

At the executive offices today, it was stated that there were no new developments in the Alliance situation.

Last week, a delegation of residents of that city called upon Gov. Donahey and demanded (1) a probe of general conditions by special grand jury, and prosecutor and (2) removal of three officials of Alliance, whom the delegation charged with responsibility for conditions.

They were informed regarding their first request, by the governor, that he would investigate their allegations, and the delegation was asked to present its evidence in writing. This request was complied with in the "memorial" presented Friday.

Regarding the second request, Attorney Kavanaugh said the Alliance citizens back of the cleanup move had decided not to file specific charges against the city officials, but to depend rather upon the revelations that might be made by grand jury in dealing with them.

COUNTY AUDITOR SEEKS AUTO TAX

Nearly 3,000 Autos Haven't Been Returned For Taxation.

County Auditor C. E. Hamilton has checked up the auto owners in Columbiana county and he has discovered that only about two out of three machines owned in the county have been returned for taxation.

In round numbers, state licenses have been issued for 10,900 machines, and the records show that less than 7,000 have been returned for taxation. That means that over three thousand machines have not been returned.

The auditor is having a notice sent out to the owner of each auto not returned to make a return of the same within 15 days from the date of the notice. If the owner does not do so, the auditor will list the machines against the owners from the data furnished by the state.

The auditor is furnished with the name, style of car, and the address of every auto owner in the county who secures a license plate and in this way the checkup is an easy matter.

DEMURRERS FILED AGAINST ACTIONS UPHELD BY JUDGE

Two Typical Cases Chosen To Prevent Clogging Of Court Docket.

PLAINTIFFS WILL APPEAL DECISION

Cases Will Be Carried To Appeals Court For Test Ruling.

The city of Salem won a preliminary victory in its defense against the 22 damage cases filed as a result of the typhoid fever epidemic here, it developed Saturday with the announcement that Judge James G. Moore in common pleas court at Lisbon had sustained demurrers in two of the cases filed by attorneys for the city.

The demurrers were filed by counsel for the city stating that the damage petitions filed did not show sufficient cause of action to warrant damages. Hearings on the demurrers were held more than a week ago and it was announced at the conclusion of the hearings that Judge Moore had taken the cases under advisement.

The two cases on which the demurrers were upheld are said to be typical cases among the 22 filed. It was explained that these two cases have been selected in order to prevent clogging the court docket by attempting to hear the entire list.

These two cases will be carried at once to the court of appeals, it was announced Saturday by the law firm of Hart & Kohler of Alliance, representing a number of the plaintiffs.

It is likely that the cases will be carried to the state supreme court regardless of the decision handed down by the appellate court. This will mean that it will be a long time before the status of the remaining cases can be decided.

Amended petitions are being prepared by the firm of Hart & Kohler, for presentation of the cases to the court of appeals, it was announced.

City Solicitor L. B. Harris, Attorney K. L. Cochran and the law firms of Metzger & McCarthy and Boone & Campbell are representing the city.

ENORMOUS TASK FOR WASHINGTON

WILL UNDERTAKE TO ENTERTAIN HOST OF MYSTIC SHRINERS NEXT JUNE.

COMMITTEE SURE OF SUCCESS

Fifty Thousand Persons Will Live in a City of Parked Pullman Cars—Hotels and Homes Expected to House 255,000 More.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—In 20 years the population of the city of Washington has increased from 236,000 to 426,000, and the growth continues steadily onward. Seemingly Washington at present cannot house with entire comfort all the people that are within its limits. However, arrangements are being made to entertain for one week next June visitors to a number equaling three-fourths of the population of the town. The salient question today is: "Can Washington do it?"

It is some task that this town is going to undertake. The occasion will be the annual session of the organization known as the "Imperial Council of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine."

At San Francisco last June when the Shriners held their convention, 94 temples were registered with an average daily attendance of 350,000. Up to the present time the Washington committee has 118 temples on its list of applicants for hotel accommodations.

Something is to be seen in this town next June that perhaps never was seen before. It is understood that fifty thousand people will live in parked Pullman cars for one week in the yards of the Southern railway just outside of the limits of the city. The yards are to be organized like a town with police and fire protection, sanitary arrangements, restaurants in the shape of dining cars, playgrounds for the children, and with arrangements for localized social entertainments and get-together meetings for the adults.

Committee Is Confident.

If fifty thousand people thus can be accommodated it is expected that about 275,000 more people will find temporary homes within the limits of the city proper. What are the hotels and the boarding houses going to do about it? The answer of the local committee to this query is: "Wait and see," and then it adds: "Everybody will be snug, comfortable and satisfied." Washington probably can meet the test.

At the danger of being charged with having taken on duties as a press agent for the Mystic Shriners, let it be said that Washington is preparing to make its car-drums receptive enough to withstand and enjoy the music of a band of six thousand instruments, to say nothing of the vocal efforts of a chorus of five thousand trained voices. How many untrained voices will join in the general vocalization jubilee no one has ventured to say. There will be noise enough, however, musical noise enough to permeate, and it may be that the ears that infest the day will fold their tents like those of the Arabs of the Mystic Shrine at the close of their stay and silently steal away.

Many Hotels Being Built.

Now all this leads up in a way to the hotel situation in Washington. Nearly everybody here seems to think that too many hotels are under construction, that before long half-empty hotel buildings will stand on every other corner, and that the promoters of the caravansaries will wish they hadn't promoted. Nothing but time will tell whether this building is being overdone or not, but it is certain that at the present moment one has great difficulty in finding a place to live in the city of Washington unless he wants to pay prices that have broken the records of all the aviators of this soaring age.

The hotels, high-priced ones and all, are full today, or at any rate most of them are. Some few are so new that they barely have started the filling-up process. What is going to happen when the new ones now under construction are roofed in, furnished and given over to the uses of the traveling public?

There is one hotel in the city of Washington now partly constructed which will be one of the largest of the world's houses of entertainment. There is one hotel in full operation in this city which it is said holds five thousand guests. Still another is to be erected upon Capitol hill, and it is to be of a first order of magnitude. Another one probably will be built soon on one of the busiest of the downtown thoroughfares. Of the making of many hotels there is no end, at least no end is in sight. What will the harvest be?

The fact that the former war workers stayed here in large numbers accounts for the housing problem, but the fact that so many thousands of people came here on business during the war accounts for the spurge in hotel building. There seems to be a feeling that visitors will continue to come during future years just as they came during the war, and have been coming since to wind up the commercial matters growing out of the war.

BACK ACHE TERRIBLY

Amarillo, Texas.—"My back was my greatest trouble. It would ache so that it would almost kill me and I would have cramps. I suffered in this way about three years, then a lady friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had better health since, keep house and am able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends as it has certainly given me great relief."—Mrs. C. B. Robinson, 608 N. Lincoln St., Amarillo, Tex.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for women. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful times, irregularity, tired and worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. Robinson writes as well as by one woman telling another. These women know what it did for them. It is surely worth your trial.

KENTUCKY TROOPS CALLED AS RESULT OF STREET BATTLE

Two Men Shot, Hotel Blown Up During Railroad Strike Trouble.

Corbin, Ky., Feb. 3. — National guardsmen arrived here early today to patrol the city following the urgent representations of Mayor Whitley and Sheriff Young of Whitley county to Gov. Morrow, that the situation was out of their control.

The appeal for troops is the direct result of the recent dynamiting of a railroad hotel and the street battle a few days ago in which two men were killed.

A detachment of 25 men from Co. B, London, Ky., were on duty throughout the city and the remainder of the company were held for orders at the London armory.

The immediate cause for the calling out of the troops, according to Sheriff Young, is the tenseness of the situation, revolving around the shooting last Tuesday of two men and the blowing up of a hotel occupied by strikebreakers employed by the Louisville & Nashville railroad. Sheriff Young said Jess Barker and J. C. Barker, brothers, were resisting arrest, in connection with the shooting of Special Officer Day and James Parker, a yard engineer.

Whitley county, long famous for its "bad men," has been the center of most disorders throughout the strike of the shopmen and while the city was quiet this morning, officials openly expressed fear of a serious outbreak.

The best lineup available will be used by Manager Hassey who announced that Joe Kelly and Hassey would play at forwards, B. B. Wilson at center and Reessler, Scullion or Saunders at guards.

The girls' team plays only boys' rules and boasts of a capable lineup, according to Manager Hassey.

THEATRES

"The Kentucky Derby" Great Film Thriller

Picture Based on Famous Turf Classic Has Strong Cast.

"The Kentucky Derby" comes to the Royal theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, as the next big Universal offering directed by King Baggot, who made "Human Hearts."

"Human Hearts" has been achieving extraordinary success throughout the world because of its universal appeal.

"The Kentucky Derby" is a different type of picture, offering thrilling action but handled by the same artist. The director displays the same remarkable genius of human characterizations in both pictures, however.

Reginald Denny, Universal's featured player of "The Leather Pushers," who is also remembered for his success in "Disraeli," has the chief masculine role.

Lillian Rich, popular with the public through a series of six or seven Universal appearances in a row, will be seen opposite Denny.

Lionel Belmore, character man of consistent successes in the past, will be seen in a principal portrayal, as will Emmett King, of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" fame.

Gertrude Astor, who for the past four years has appeared in pictures from every leading producer, has a secondary feminine role, and Kingsley Benedict portrays the jockey part which he played for ten years in the original stage production.

Walter McGrail, Harry Carter, Pat Harmon, Wilfred Lucas—of "Hell Morgan"—repute—Bert Woodruff, Bert Tracy, Anna Hernandez and Verna Winter also are in the cast.

The story was adapted from Charles T. Dacey's stage thriller of a decade ago, "The Suburban," also known as "Suburban Handicap." 29h

When They Made the Discovery

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

(C. 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

Anne Gilchrist was dead, and Gilchrist was sitting in the empty room, thinking how fatally life enmeshed one. They had been married twelve years, and Anne had died a week before.

Their marriage had not been a happy one. They had found that out a week after their marriage. Gilchrist was a sculptor, and temperamental. Anne was cold. She had never given him that love that he had had a right to expect. That was the one thing he found it hardest to forgive.

All their bitter words he had forgotten. If only she had had love in her nature everything might have gone well. Love could have overcome his irritability which he had vented on her. He knew that. He did not defend his own unkindness; he only felt that, lacking love, Anne lacked justification. And now she was dead.

They had only two friends in the village—people of Gilchrist's type. Mr. and Mrs. Fairleigh were authors, and did very well at it. They had understood him—and Anne. They had lightened the heavy burden of their lives by their companionship. Fairleigh was coming over to sit with him that night.

Gilchrist was going through the things Anne had left behind her. She had known she was dying, but the end had come with tragic suddenness. Every little memento of the past was a blow to Gilchrist.

"If only you had loved—loved any one!" he soliloquized to the dead woman. "Even if you had been unfaithful it would have been better than that eternal coldness."

Turning over her bills, receipts, papers, he came upon an envelope, sealed. He opened it and read, at first without understanding, then with a sudden rush of emotion.

"My dear"—it ran, "When you open and read this I shall be dead. I can't pretend that my life has been a very happy one, but at least I am prepared to go wherever you go without malice, without unkindness, without uncharitableness."

"I want you to know that, though life has dealt so harshly with me that the capacity for demonstrating my feeling has almost been destroyed, I do love you. I have always loved you since the day when we first met—I wonder if you remember that. You have always been in my thoughts, first and foremost."

"And so this little message of farewell takes all my love with it. No other man has ever entered my heart. I wish that I could tell you—but I cannot."

It was signed "Anne." Gilchrist read the little note with a wildly beating heart. So she had loved him after all. She like himself had been under that unhappy inhibition which forbids one to tell of love to one's own dearest.

And memories surged through his brain—memories of their early meetings, of their courtship. He had always admired Anne, in spite of her apparent coldness. He had always believed that some day he could awaken her to love.

That hope had been destined to disappointment. Still, they had had periods of happiness.

He remembered once when she had turned to him and put her arms round his neck asking forgiveness for her coldness.

Then there was the time when their hope of a child had been frustrated. They had clung to each other then.

But the years of married intimacy had worn them both down. Little by little even the pretense of love had died. At the end they had been frankly hostile. And he had not kissed her before she died—somehow he had felt he couldn't go through that lie.

A tap at the door. Fairleigh entered. The men shook hands. Gilchrist, who was on the most confidential terms with Fairleigh, stammered out his emotions. He spoke of the letter.

"I can't tell you how it makes me feel," he said. "If it had been some other man, even, I should have been glad to think poor Anne had the capacity for love. But this—this overcomes one, Fairleigh. It makes me feel that I've been a brute to her."

But Fairleigh was staring at the envelope of the missive which Gilchrist had tossed across the table. And Gilchrist's eyes wandered to it and then fixed themselves in amazement on his friend's face.

The envelope was addressed to Fairleigh. The letter had been for Fairleigh.

Common Ailment.

Samuel Gumpers was bemoaning his failure to get certain pet bills through congress. "Sometimes," he said, "congress reminds me of an incident last June. Coming home from a summer resort we were informed the train was one hour late."

Warren, a restless little chap, remarked, "Gosh, not a thing to do and a whole hour to do it in."

Lives on Both Sides of Road. How would you like to live in a house in which you sleep in a room on one side of the road then cross to the other side to have your breakfast? This is what happens in Sir H. Rider Haggard's house at St. Leonards, England. The rooms are connected by a bridge—this also containing a room, by the way. So the house is on both sides of the road.

DRY MEASURE PUT THROUGH

Bender Senate Bill Finds No
Opposition in House.

"PADLOCK" BILL ALSO FAVORED

Provides That Property Where Liquors Are Kept or Made May Be Declared a Common Nuisance—Resolution Seeks Return to Convention Plan of Party Nominations—Measures Before the General Assembly.

Columbus, Feb. 3. — Prohibition measures are encountering little or no opposition in either branch of the general assembly, as was the case two years ago. Action was had late yesterday on two more bills designed to strengthen the dry enforcement law.

The house, without a dissenting vote, passed the Bender Senate bill, making manufacture of distilled liquor a penitentiary offense, and providing other penalties for violations of the prohibition code.

As it passed the senate the bill imposed a first degree murder penalty for persons selling poisonous liquor, but in the house this was amended to read second degree murder with life imprisonment. The senate will be asked to concur in the amendment.

The "padlock" bill, introduced by Representative Gordon of Logan, passed the house with only four dissenting votes. It writes into the state prohibition code the "common nuisance" clause of the Volstead act. The bill provides that property where alcoholic liquors are kept or manufactured may be held to be a common nuisance and the court may close it against use of the owner for a period of a year.

Representatives McNamara, Reiman and Tallentire, all of Cincinnati, and Prange of Lucas county, voted against the measure. None of Hamilton county's five other representatives voted.

Among the new measures before the house is the bill backed by the Cleveland chamber of commerce, repealing the present "blue sky" law and providing for restriction in sale of securities and stocks that would protect Ohio investors. The proposed measure was introduced by Representative C. H. Fouts of Morgan county. Among its provisions are the following:

A prospectus of complete and detailed information must be filed with the state before sales can commence; copy of this prospectus must be presented to prospective customers; the state has authority to issue a stop order when the sale is fraudulent or likely to result in fraud; state shall not issue any written evidence indicating that a security may be sold, and directors of corporations would be made liable to losses sustained by purchasers of their securities by reason of any untrue statements in their sales prospectus.

An effort to prevent the enactment of the Burke minimum wage bill will be made soon by its opponents, who will offer a resolution providing for a "fact finding commission" to make an investigation and report to the next legislature. This developed following the first public hearing on the Burke bill before the senate labor committee. The resolution will be introduced in the senate within a few days. If present plans are carried out, opponents of the minimum wage measure have now taken the position generally that they are not opposed to the principle of minimum wage, but do not want a law enacted until the legislature has all possible information on the question.

A resolution providing for the submission to the voters of a constitutional amendment which contemplates the return to the convention plan of party nominations for state and district officers will be offered this week. The proposal leaves nomination of municipal officers now nominated at primary elections unchanged, and county nominations are also to continue to be made at primary elections, except where the electorate, by a majority vote, decides that they be made in delegate conventions. For state and district officers, however, all party nominations are to be made by delegates to conventions, elected at the primaries. Provision is to be made for nominations by electors who prefer not to affiliate with any political party, the proposal authorizing the general assembly to provide by law for the nomination of independent candidates at primary elections or by petition. When made, such nominations involve the placing of the names of the nominees on the ballot without party designation or emblem. A referendum on the actions of conventions is also provided for.

Senator Burke is behind a bill which provides five persons of a political party 90 days prior to a primary election may file a statement of certain principles which they wish included in their party's platform.

Then the secretary of state must place upon the ballot of such party the planks selected, if they are approved by petition by 3 per cent of the electors of that party based on total votes for the party's candidates for governor at the previous primary. If this measure receives a majority of the party's votes it shall be incorporated in the party platform at the next convention.

Another election bill is favored by Representative Spidel of Montgomery. He would have the general primary elections held in presidential years on the last Thursday in April, at the same time delegates to national conventions are elected, instead of in August.

Former Congressman B. F. Welty of Lima takes the position that the state of Ohio is without authority to dispose of the Miami and Erie canal, or any portion of it, as the federal government retains the title to it. He holds the Miami and Erie canal is a parallel undertaking to a Michigan canal, ownership of which had been declared by the United States supreme court to be vested in the federal government.

Mr. Welty appeared before the house committee on waterways as the representative of the Central Inland Waterways association. Instead of the state of Ohio leasing a part of the Miami and Erie canal and the Mad river feeder, located in the city of Dayton, to the city for boulevard and other purposes, the waterways association appealed to the committee to insist upon the federal government completing the canal, thus eliminating the alleged nuisance as it now exists in the city of Dayton.

The bill providing for lease of portions of the canal to the city of Dayton was introduced by Representative Spidel of Montgomery county, on behalf of the Dayton chamber of commerce and other civic organizations of that city.

In the senate the Burke resolution calling upon President Harding to arrange for a conference of world powers to solve the economic and post-war problems of Europe, was voted down with only five votes in its favor, after a debate in which various senators voiced their opinions on the European situation.

With the Burke proposal out of the way, Senator Jenkins of Lawrence county introduced a resolution assuring President Harding of Ohio's "unflinching trust in and support of his foreign policy," and expressing a reaffirmation of the faith in President Washington's mandate against "entangling alliances." It was passed unanimously.

Empaneling of a thirteen judge jury provided for in the Morgan bill, passed by the house. This is the California method and prevents discharge of the jury in case one of the first 12 men chosen is disabled during the trial.

Court stenographers got a salary increase at the hands of the house when that body passed the Cope bill, which boosts salaries from $2,800 to $3,600 in counties having two or more judges and from $1,800 to $2,700 in counties with but one judge. The bill must still pass in the senate before being effective.

Senator Bender's measure to abolish the state public utilities commission is likely to die in committee. This became apparent during the second public hearing on the proposed law. Much evidence has been presented against the bill.

L. G. Macomber and F. M. Renshaw, traffic managers, respectively, of the chambers of commerce of Toledo and Cincinnati, appeared before the senate committee on public utilities and added to the sentiment against the bill. Enactment of the proposed law, they contended, would end all state control over the railroads and leave them free to establish any rates they might choose.

W. E. McKinley of the Southern Ohio Coal exchange and Professor C. L. Ruggles of Ohio State university also spoke against the measure.

Representative newspaper men from all sections of the state attended the sessions here of the Associated Ohio Dailies. Addresses on pertinent topics featured the meeting. At the final session R. C. Snyder, editor of the Norwalk Reflector-Herald, was elected president; E. E. Cook, editor-in-chief of the Scripps-Howard league of newspapers of Ohio, first vice president; George Taylor of the Painesville Times, second vice president; Fred Wallace of the Coshocton Tribune, secretary; A. Haswell of the Bowling Green Sentinel-Tribune, treasurer.

Some legislators are charging, in connection with the proposed appropriation of $1,250,000 to make up a deficit in 1922, that school men in some of the rich counties of the state are raiding the state treasury by raising salaries of teachers and principals to a maximum figure and then applying for aid from the fund set aside for weak school districts. The trouble arises, it is said, through the promulgation of a schedule of maximum salaries by the state department of education, of which the schools are taking advantage, thereby increasing their salary lists to a point where they are in a position to demand state aid. At a meeting of the senate finance committee a plan was outlined to make more definite delineation of school districts receiving state aid, and possible reduction in their number.

Record Crowd Sees Salem Girls Win, Boys Lose When They Oppose E. Liverpool

Playnig before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a basketball game in the school gym, the Salem High floor teams divided a double bill with the crack East Liverpool scholastic passers Friday night. The Salem girls won by a single point 18 to 17, while the boys were outclassed by the Portage City lad 36-16. More than 500 people witnessed the game.

The boys' contest was the fastest game ever staged here in the opinion of numerous fans. The Salem passers held their own during the first quarter but from then on the superior work of the Blue and White began to show.

The flashy team work and brilliant shooting of the East Liverpool lads eclipsed anything displayed here this season. The speed of the Portage city scoring trio, DeBolt, Pusey and Bromby, caught the local passers flat-footed time after time. The Red and Black gave a mighty good account of themselves and forced the fighting during the early stages of the game.

The first quarter ended with the visitors leading 7-5. The Red and Black was held scoreless during the second quarter while the Liverpool tossers ran up eight points. The third period ended with a score of 25-19. DeBolt's brilliant floorwork and shooting during the final period forced the contest. The flashy forward dropped six field goals and 19 fouls through the net and gave a sensational exhibition of floorwork.

Sheehan and Roessler were the high lights for Salem. The former came through with three field goals and four fouls while the good floor work of Roessler kept the locals in the running during the first part of the contest.

The girls' teams were about evenly matched in playing ability but the inability of the East Liverpool passers to shoot one of 10 or 12 from the foul line cost them the victory. They scored 18 points from the free throw line while the boys made but one.

Miss Williamson scored every one of the 10 points total of points with five field goals and eight fouls. The floor work of Tusman was an important cog in the scoring by Williamson, Harris and Cosgrove also played brilliantly.

DUTIES COLLECTED ON IMPORTS GROW

Upward Tendency Revealed Since Tariff Law Became Effective.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Customs officials estimated that duties collected on imports will exceed $480,000,000 in the current fiscal year, ending June 30, which would establish a new record for government revenue from that source.

The estimate attracted much attention in official circles, since the new tariff law will affect the collections for nine months of the period. The first three months' collections were made under the tariff act of 1913, but receipts in October, November and December, under the higher schedules of the new law, revealed an upward tendency with indications pointing toward a progressive increase in collections in January.

Receipts for 29 days of January, already received by the treasury totaled $43,309,000 and it was officially predicted that the month's total would exceed $46,000,000. This amount is greater than was collected in any month in 1922 except September, when importers made a vigorous effort to get shipments into the United States before the higher duties of the new law became effective.

The estimate of $480,000,000 in tariff receipts for the 12 months ending June 30 was based largely on the average maintained since the new law went into effect Sept. 22. Almost $300,000,000 already has been received, it was said, so the estimate contemplates collections averaging close to $40,000,000 a month for the next five months. The average of the last three months seems to indicate, according to officials, that the necessary averages will be maintained.

TELLS WHEN LEGAL LIGHTS ARE LEGAL

Ohio Engineers Conducting Tests of Automobile Headlights.

Columbus, Feb. 3.—When are legal lights legal? "Sometimes" would seem to be the verdict of electrical engineers at Ohio State university who are conducting a series of tests with various types of automobile headlights and lenses for the state highway department.

"No headlight is legal unless it is properly adjusted as to power of bulb as well as to tilt of the lamp," declared Prof. Francis C. C. Odwell. "Very few headlights in use on the roads at present conform to both adjustments," in his opinion. "This fact and not defects of the lenses is responsible for practically all the dissatisfaction with present headlighting," he asserted.

"Contrary to popular belief, the object of the legal lens law is primarily to throw maximum light on the road and only secondarily to prevent glare," according to Prof. Odwell. "To prevent glare," he explained, "not more than 800 candle power where it will strike the eyes of oncoming drivers is permitted. But to give sufficient driving power there must be at least 4,800 candle power at the road level, 200 feet ahead. These are among the regulations prescribed by the law and which are determined in the laboratory by exact photometer tests before a lens is approved."

Existing specifications are the result of joint investigation by members of the Illuminating Engineering Society, the Traffic Officers' Association and the Association of Automobile Engineers, all national organizations.

KU KLUX KLAN LEADERS MEET IN CHICAGO

SALEM SCOUT ACTIVITIES

BOY SCOUTS
That scouting is benefiting every boy who is really in earnest goes without question as any real scout knows.

An interesting item comes from Quincy, Mass., Scout council. Enthusiasm of one of its members, three years ago a Boy Scout of Quincy, the senior patrol leader, his troop was stricken with spinal meningitis.

The disease left him partially crippled. He has to submit to operations including bone grafting on the spinal column.

For three years he has lain face down, strapped to his cot with heavy weights attached to his legs to keep his back straight.

Once a week he is allowed to turn over on his back for a few minutes' rest. He can only move his hands and his head.

At the head of his cot is rigged a typewriter which he has learned to operate. It helps him to pass the dragging hours and enables him to earn a little money.

Out of these meager savings he sent, voluntarily two dollar bills to the Quincy Scout council to help scouting to other boys.

He wrote a cheery little letter, sorry it could not be more, hoped it would be more next year, and glad that he could help them. Not a word of complaint—the just thought of the other fellow and did a good turn daily as scouting teaches.

GERMANS CALL OFF RAILROAD STRIKE

Paris, Feb. 3.—German resistance has been broken in the Rhineland and Ruhr and France has won a bloodless victory of the first magnitude, according to officialdom and the press today.

The calling off of the German railway strike by the German authorities is regarded as the first step in a general backdown all along the line. The rail strike was the backbone of German resistance.

Today Paris reveals that Germany has sent a note to the interallied reparations commission protesting against the allied decision of January 26 holding Germany in voluntary default of all payments and deliveries pledged under the Versailles treaty.

The note pointed out that the treaty obligated the reparations commission to "study Germany's resources and capacity for payments" before making such a decision.

Echo De Paris quoted a British diplomat as saying: "Germany has hoisted the white flag."

January Was Damp And Dark: Warmer Than The Average

January was damp, dark and dreary, according to the report of Observer L. H. Copeland of the U. S. station at Millport, this county. There were but two clear days in the month, four partly cloudy and 25 cloudy. Rain fell to a measurable amount on 18 days.

The average of temperature was more than two degrees above the normal based on a record for 30 years at this station. The record was 29.4 degrees for the month.

The precipitation was 4.31 inches, which is nearly twice the average. Four inches of snow fell and there was a thunder storm on the 18th.

The coldest record was the degree above zero on the 11th. The warmest was 52 degrees on the 18th. Compared with last year the month just past was wetter and warmer. Last year the average temperature was 23 degrees, rainfall 1.47 inches and there were but nine days on which rain fell.

HUBBY BEAT HER ON WEDDING DAY SUIING WIFE SAYS

Mary E. Wallen of Wellsville told the court when she appeared yesterday to ask for a divorce from Roy Wallen that he beat her on their wedding day six years ago, and abused her all through their married life until last November when she was forced to leave him on account of his cruelty. The divorce was promptly granted. The wife at her request was restored to her former name, Mary Davis.

Clifford Carr of East Liverpool was ordered to pay his wife, Helen Jane, $7.50 per week until further orders, alimony in the sum of $35 down, and Mrs. Eula Edgell of East Liverpool was divorced from Clem Edgell in court yesterday, the decree being entered because of three years' alleged willful absence on the part of the defendant. Mrs. Edgell was given the custody of her five-year-old son, Paul.

Mrs. Inez M. Osborne of East Liverpool was divorced from Harold Osborne when she proved to the court that he had been cruel and had beaten her. They were married in July, 1920, in Beaver, Pa., and had no children. The wife was restored to her former name, Inez Coleman. She told the court that her husband was a gambler and had failed to provide. He is living in Hopewell, Va.

Mrs. Mary E. Rambo was divorced from Samuel Rambo because of willful absence for more than three years. The couple were married on Feb. 16, 1916, and as there were no children, the wife was restored to her former name, Mary Manning. Rambo lives in Madison township.
